

Metro's General Manager Named APWA Professional Leader for 2006

The Arizona Chapter of the American Public Works Association (APWA) named Metro Water's General Manager, Mark Stratton, its Professional Leader of 2006. Stratton was recognized for his 14 years of overseeing Metro Water's efforts in becoming a strong water provider that is well respected by its customers and the water industry.

This was accomplished in part through two Capital Improvement Programs that integrated the water system to ensure reliability, increased capacity to meet peak usage, and increased fire flow demands. Stratton was also recognized for his active involvement in the overall water industry that includes serving as the current President of the 2,700 member Arizona Water and Pollution Control Association. APWA is a 70 year old association of public agencies, private sector companies, and individuals dedicated to ensuring high quality water in Arizona.

Pictured from left to right is Jennifer Gillaspie, APWA President; Mark Stratton, Metro Water General Manager; Tucson City Mayor Bob Walkup; and Farhad Moghimi, APWA Award Committee Chair.